"TORII'S INSPIRATION"

Hibiki 'Japanese Harmony' | Hakushu 'Distillers Reserve' | The Chita 'Distillers Reserve' | Yamazaki 12 47.5

A selection of Japanese whiskies inspired by Scotland. Founded by Shinjiro Torii in 1923, Suntory has become one of two of the biggest whisky companies in Japan and one of the largest in the world. It all started with Japan's first single malt distillery in 1923, Yamazaki. on the outskirts of Kyoto this is where Torii's vision was born. This flight showcases a variety of Suntory's whiskies- Hibiki Harmony, a blended whisky; Hakushu 'Distillers Reserve' is a lighter, fruitier style of Single Malt; The Chita, a Single Grain Whisky & The Yamazaki 12 year old is a richer style of Single Malt.

"TAKETSURU'S LEGACY"

Pure Malt | Miyagikyo | The Nikka 12 years Old | Yoichi 47.5

Known as the father of Japanese whisky, Masataka Taketsuru was the first in Japan to master the art of making whisky. In 1918 he travelled alone to Scotland and enrolled at University in Glasgow, taking chemistry courses and apprenticing at 3 Scotch Distilleries in the Mull of Kintyre (Campbeltown region). After 2 years he returned to Japan with his Scottish wife Jessie Roberta (Rita) and went on to work with Shinjiro Torii at Suntory, helping them direct the building of Yamazaki Distillery in 1923. After 10 years of working alongside each other Masataka had a dream to make his own ideal whisky using the skills he learned in Scotland. It was at Yoichi, Hokkaido Taketsuru chose to build his first Distillery in 1934 and so the foundations of Nikka Whisky were born. This flight is a true legacy of Masataka's Dream and showcases various styles of whisky produced by Nikka- Pure Malt, a blend named in honour of the Father himself; Miyagikyo Single Malt, Nikka's second distillery built in 1969; The Nikka 12 years old, a premium blend and emblem of the art of blending and craftsmanship behind Nikka Whisky. And of course the 1st distillery in Hokkaido, Yoichi, A slightly peated style as the traditional Scotch whisky would have been where he learnt his craft.
